What’s the worth of focus?

Lab: Stanford Psychophysiology Laboratory (SPL)
www.spl.stanford.edu

Supervising Researcher: Dr. Andero Uusberg

Project Description: The project seeks to understand how the extent of concentration during a task depends on rewards, challenges and emotions.

Duties: Research assistants will be involved in developing materials for behavioral experiments and online surveys, recruiting subjects, running studies, and other activities as interested. Applicants should plan to commit at least 8 hours per week.

Qualifications: Reliability and interest in psychology or behavioral economics.

Compensation: Course-credit or volunteer

How to apply: Please send a brief CV, along with any questions, to andero@stanford.edu